DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
 3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
 4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
2. Claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Huberman (US Patent No. 6,078,906).

As per claims 13-16 Huberman discloses a method and system for providing a document service over a computer network using an automated brokered auction.

The system and method comprising:

storing in an open business information database included in said center site, information of open business issued by a plurality of member sites to find business partners, said information of open businesses describes products and/or services desired to be purchased or being offered for purchase by said member sites (column 3, lines 42-53 and column 4, lines 20-33);

Receiving, in said center site, a request from a member site to access said information of open businesses of said open business information database (column 3, lines 53-60 and column 4, lines 33-67);

Receiving, at said center site, an order specification from said member site, said order specification representing an order by said member site to sell or purchase goods and/or services described by the requested information;(column 5, lines 10-35) and

Transmitting, from said center site to an order destination member site, said order specification based on the requested information from said open business information database to initiate a transaction between said member site and said order destination member site (column 5, lines 10-35).

The system of Huberman connects the center site or broker and the member sites or customers and suppliers to each other. Note figure of Huberman. The only difference between the claimed invention and the Huberman is in wording only. Here, the claimed plurality of member sites are the customers of Huberman. The claimed destination member site(s) is/are the suppliers or goods/services described in Huberman. The claimed center site is the broker or the automated brokered system described in Huberman. With the only difference between the claimed invention and the system of Huberman being a labeling difference, the Examiner notes no patentable differences exist between the claimed invention and the system and method of Huberman.

Art Unit: 3628

3. Claims 14-16 are similar in scope to claim 13 and therefore are rejected under a similar rationale.
